"Just you wait and watch us," an-nounced Theodosia Salpepper, the live-liest of the bunch. In her pleadings Miss Geary, who is under age, alleges that she was asked to adjust a loom in May, 1998, by Myrtle Kennedy, the floorwalker and "boss" of fifty-three girls. While "doing just as she was told" Myrtle turned on the power. Miss Geary's first and second fingers of her right hand were caught in the spools and afterward amputated. Since that time Mary has tried to get work in department stores, but the ab-sent fingers disable her from tying bun-dles and sorting goods. Besides, employers say, the girls complain that a fingerless cash girl may drive customers away. She has been unemployed since

GAMBERT, FIRE HERO. USES SOUP ON A BLAZE.

Quick Action by Excelsior Hose Man Earns Rapid Promotion for Him.

The members of Excelsior Hose No. 13 of Glendale, L. I., are vastly proud of their fellow emoke-eater John Gambert. Although he has only been vamping for about a week, Mr. Garmbert was able to relate to-day how he managed to suppress a blaze. When he had finished his thrilling narrative he was promoted to the post of Second Lieutenant of Excelsion Hose No. 13, thereby elng raised in rank over the heads of two ninety-year-old veterans.
"The fire started," said Gambert, who
